Belarusians often visit cultural and historical sites like Nesvizh Castle, Mir Castle, and the Puslovski Palace in Kossovo. On a cold winter's day, the woman made a fire. It was warm in the cave. A wild dog saw the fire and ran to the cave. The woman asked, “What do you want, Wild Dog?” The dog answered, “I'm hungry.” The woman gave him a bone and said, “Live in the cave and help the man hunt.” So, the dog became a domestic animal.

Then a wild cow came. The woman asked, “What do you want, Wild Cow?” The cow answered, “I'm hungry.” The woman gave her some grass and said, “Live in the cave and give us milk.” So, the cow became a domestic animal.

The woman asked, "What can you do, Wild Cat?" "I can walk by myself," answered the cat. "Walk away then!" "But I'm hungry."

think – thought [θɔ:t]

The woman thought and said, "If I call you 'a good cat', you can live in the cave." Suddenly, the baby started crying. The cat ran to the baby and played with it. The cat was warm and fluffy¹. The baby stopped crying and smiled. The woman saw that and said, "What a good cat!" "Aha!" said the cat. "Now I can live in the cave and drink milk every day."

So, the cat became a domestic animal. He lived with the people, drank milk, and played with the baby. But every evening he went to the forest. There, he walked by himself.

My favourite cartoon character is Cheburashka from the cartoon "Cheburashka and Gena the Crocodile" made in 1971. It's a very exciting and touching cartoon. There are also some amusing moments in it. Cheburashka is one of the main characters, and nobody knows what animal he is.

Cheburashka is a small animal. He looks like a small bear, with brown fur and really big ears. He has a small black nose and small black eyes. He talks like a child.

Cheburashka is cheerful, friendly, and funny. He is not very clever, but he is really loyal to his friends. He likes to help other animals and people. At the beginning of the story, he is very sad because he is lost and doesn't know what to do. But by the end, he is really happy because he has a lot of friends.

bring – brought

On Mother's Day, children usually give their mums nice cards, small presents, and flowers and cook their favourite food. Some people invite their mothers to a cafe. I always make a card for my mum on this day.

Last year, my brother, sister, and I made beautiful cards and gave them to our mum in the morning. She liked them very much! Then we made a special cake. We decorated it with pink creamy roses. It looked fantastic! We went to the living room to lay the table for the party. Five minutes later, I came back to the kitchen to take the cake. I couldn't believe my eyes! The kitchen was a mess! The pieces of the cake were all over the floor! I was shocked! But our dog Charlie was very happy! He liked the cake, the pink creamy roses most of all. We didn't have time to get angry or make another cake, so we ran to the supermarket and bought a chocolate cake. In fact, it was OK. Everyone was happy, but Charlie was the happiest!

 Must use: Symbol, church, tradition; Present Simple and Past Simple.

like	celebrations	do	why	people	?

2a. Read about a spring holiday. What do the words in bold mean?

Easter is a time when people celebrate new beginnings¹ and new life. The holiday comes with all kinds of traditions [trə'dɪʃnz]. People often go to church [tʃɜ:tʃ], paint Easter eggs and decorate them with bright colours. Eggs, rabbits, chickens, and flowers are symbols ['sɪmbəlz] of Easter because they make us think of new life.

2b.  Diana and Sasha are speaking about Easter in Belarus and other countries. Listen to them, look at the photos, and name Easter traditions.

¹beginning – начало, начинание / пачатак, пачынанне

win [wɪn] – won [wʌn]

Sasha: In Belarus, we have our own Easter traditions [trə'dɪʃnz].

People start celebrating Easter on Willow Sunday, a week before Easter. On that day, they go to church with willow branches¹. On Clean Thursday, we tidy up our houses. Belarusians paint and decorate eggs with beautiful ornaments called “pisanka”. My granny always colours eggs with onion peels². It’s a very old tradition. On Saturday and Sunday, people take Easter cakes and eggs to church to have them blessed (освятить / асвятіць). I like cakes! Our Easter cake is called “kulich”.

At Easter, many people visit their relatives and give them eggs as presents. Children like playing the Egg Fight³ or egg tapping game. It’s fun! In this tradition, before you eat your egg, you play this game with someone in your family. If your egg doesn’t break, you play with another⁴ person. The last player standing is the winner. I often win Egg Fight, but last year my cousin won.

² onion peels ['ʌnjən 'pi:lz] – луковая шелуха / шалупінне ад цыбулі

³ fight [faɪt] – борьба, битва / барацьба, бітва

⁴ another [ə'nʌðə] – другой / іншы

Diana: In other countries, people have different Easter traditions. My favourite game is Easter Egg Hunt (oxota / паляванне). On Easter morning, parents hide chocolate eggs in the garden or inside the house. Children then walk around and collect them in baskets. They think that Easter Bunny, a magical rabbit, hides the eggs. It is so exciting!

Many schoolchildren make special hats called “Easter Bonnets” at Easter time. They decorate the hats with flowers, eggs, and other colourful things. Then, on Easter Monday, they wear their beautiful bonnets at Easter parades. Last year, my friend won a prize for having the best hat. It was a big one-metre-tall rabbit from the Winnie-the-Pooh cartoon!

At Easter, people usually get together with family and friends to enjoy these special traditions. They bake traditional Easter fruitcake.
